Spring Shindig

Gather round my fellow Arrowmen and lend me your ear, our second annual spring shindig is finally here. The theme is Greek Games and trust me there will be plenty. Toga wars, Trojan Horse, Chariot races and more. Canoeing, Service, and activities galore! After having a great first showing this last year hosted by Wyatt Foutch, we are excited to continue our lodge in the direction set forth since last year.

This event would not be possible without all the help and support from fellow Arrowmen leading events, promoting, and offering their input. To everyone that staffed and attended this year, I want to extend my deepest gratitude. You are who makes this event possible. It is amazing to see Spring Shindig form from an idea in a LEC meeting to an annual event. My fellow Arrowmen I implore you, so that the gods may adore you. May your fortune be high and your victories sweet.

- Keith Biggs, 2020 Spring Shindig Chairman

Conclave 2020

If you crave fellowship with your lodge members and would be thrilled to meet Arrowmen from other lodges within our section (SR- 6) Conclave 2020 is the event for you! Conclave will be held April 17-19th at Camp Davy Crockett in Whitesburg, TN. Conclave starts with a Friday night festival with games, fellowship, and an exciting Friday night campfire. If you go to Conclave, you are guaranteed to have a great time. Saturday morning is a time when trainings are held that Arrowmen can sign up for, the trainings share skills to improve Arrowmen in skills such as lodge/chapter leadership, ceremonies teams, service, and more. The skills taught in the trainings are meant to improve skills for those who wish to succeed in not only the OA but in their unit and personal life. During Saturday at conclave, all lodges compete against each other in various games. Every game and contest counts, as each lodge competes to win the golden arrow to the top lodge every year. Conclave also features purchasable items including patches, food, drinks, shirts, etc. The trading post will contain items inaccessible to those who don't go to Conclave 2020, so make sure to bring money along. Saturday ends with a campfire celebration with awards, music, skits, and more!

INDUCTION WEEKENDS

June and August Induction Weekends are right around the corner. These events are our only opportunity to welcome our new members each year. Spring Induction will be May 29-31 and Fall will be August 14-16. Come staff our induction weekends to welcome our new brothers and serve the Middle Tennessee Council during its 100th anniversary.

There are many staff positions available and no prior experience is needed. Service crew, kitchen, registration, and elangomat are some of the areas where you can give service to during the induction weekends. Service crew handles tasks that are not suitable for the candidates and supports the induction staff where needed. The kitchen works indoors preparing food for candidates and members. Elangomats lead a group of candidates through the weekend and form a bond with them to continue after the weekend is over. Registration checks in candidates and members as well as builds new member packets and other behind the scenes tasks. Any of these teams would be a fun, rewarding experience, where you make lasting friends and truly feel like your service has made an impact.

Vice Chief of Service Nick Schultz and I very much look forward to seeing you at this year's induction weekends.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to ask Nick or myself during Spring Shindig or contact us via email at induction@wa-hi-nasa.org. Head over to wa-hi-nasa.org/register to register for all upcoming lodge events.

See you there!

- Seth Peterson, 2020 Induction Weekends Chairman

NOAC 2020

Are you tired of spending time at school, college or work? Do you need a break this summer from the monotonous and repetitive tasks that plague the classroom and workplace? Do you want to spend a week at a major college campus doing nothing but fun, exciting activities as an Arrowman and be entertained at all times?

Well, look no further than the Wa-Hi-Nasa Lodge contingent as we embark for the 2020 National Order of the Arrow Conference at Michigan State University this August. NOAC is an amazing week of food, fun and fellowship with our fellow brothers from all across the nation! Our contingent is going Greek and just like how Zeus rules over all of Olympus, we need to prove yet again that Wa-Hi-Nasa is the Lodge of all Lodges.

Register today to take part in or experience one of the many sports competitions, nationally certified training seminars, arena shows, patch trading, keynote speakers and much, much more. NOAC only comes around every few years and you definitely do not want to miss out on this opportunity to make memories that will last a lifetime. To learn more about NOAC and how you can get involved, contact lodge leadership or visit <https://wa-hi-nasa.org/noac/>

Adviser's Corner

How do you eat an elephant? One bite at a time.

--Unknown

Our daily lives are so busy. Sometimes, when you wake up and think about your day, the stress of what is to come can be overwhelming... like trying to eat an elephant. But the quote above provides so much insight to relieve your stress and give you a plan of action.

Have you considered the power of a checklist? When you wake up and feel stressed about what you have to do for the day, a simple checklist of the things you need to get done puts you back into control of your day. It gives you power over the distortion your brain creates about how daunting your day may feel. Getting organized allows you to enumerate your tasks, prioritize them, and then start knocking them out..."one bite at a time".

The same process holds true for bigger tasks or projects. The place to begin with a project is to break the project down by enumerating the tasks, prioritize and then start working them. When you review your tasks, you should also think about who might be able to help you with your tasks. Maybe some of them can be delegated to a friend or colleague in order to get the project done sooner. Many hands make light work.

Checklists are a tool that will help you nearly every day of your life. The bottom line is that a simple checklist can help you take control of your daily activities, your goals, and your projects. The next time you are feeling a bit overwhelmed or you have a seemingly daunting task, break the project down and make a checklist. You'll eat that elephant, one bite at a time!

Chiefly Speaking

Brothers,

A leader's job is to clear the path for those around them to be successful and personally excellent in their own unique and fantastic way. We often talk about building personal leadership through the Order of the Arrow. What does that mean? How can we take that statement out of the realm of theory and put it into practice?

We all have the ability lead and influence others; the exciting part is we can always improve. Imagine leadership on a scale of 1-10. You may start as a 3, but through study and experience you grow, and the number increases. In the OA, this starts with service; other members notice those that show a zeal for service. These members in return help you succeed and become better. Is it not awesome to have people cheering for you, wanting you to succeed, just because it is YOU!

Ask yourself, "Do I want to improve my unit, family, or organization?" The impact you can have depends on your level of leadership, dedication, arduous work, and attitude. There are many places that you can serve and show leadership in our lodge: elangomats, kitchen, service crew, activities, and communications. These are just a few areas that come to mind. You will come to realize that the more you give to the OA, the more you get out of it. Not just leadership skills, but friendship, and amazing memories. If leadership is something you look for, you are in the right place. I cannot wait to see you at all our events this year! (Especially NOAC!)

Yours in Service,

Rodney Bakken, II

2020 Lodge Chief
